Dear Faithful,

Let us live by the joy of Easter. It is a dynamic force enabling us to emerge from the tomb of our ego, whereas we usually cower in our egoism where we live half-dead.

The grace of Our Lord’s resurrection must penetrate our souls so that, clothed in this strength that conquers death, we can walk with our heads held high on the road to salvation without being fascinated by the shadows of death that surround it.

Our morbid age is ringing in our ears with its pleas for pleasure. They are so many invitations to turn us away from the joy brought by Christ Who conquered sin. The world wants to bog us down in the swamps of sadness, the daughter of pleasure.

Let us oppose these appeals with the joy of being redeemed at the price of Christ’s Blood and thus freed from the yoke of sin by the power of grace, by the impulse of the Risen Christ.

In Christo Sacerdote et Maria,

Abbé Yves le Roux
